

MEDICAL STUDENT DUTY HOURS & IMPORTANT DATES

Did you know that there is a policy on medical student working hours?

Policy 010 defines scheduling for students in required clinical learning experiences. Key details on working hours include:

- Students can work a maximum of 11 hours on days when not on call and no more than 55 hours a week - not including evening, night or weekend call.
- On-call (evening, night and weekend) should not exceed an average of one-in-four. This frequency should be distributed as evenly as possible across the clinical rotation or elective.
- Students are automatically excused before 10:00 a.m. post call.

Where are my medical students today?

There are a number of important dates, including call protected time for Year 3 Students. In Entrada, you can view by following: Courses -> MEDD 431 -> Schedule and Orientation Info -> Important & Call Protection Dates.

- Call Protected Dates – Includes the call protected time for sessions, exams and events that students must attend.
- Timeline of Important Events – Includes important Year 3 dates and events, including breaks:
 - Year 3 Winter Break – December 23rd, 2024 – January 5th, 2025
 - Year 3 Study Week & OSCE – May 26th – May 30th, 2025
 - Summer Vacation between Year 3 & 4 – June 1st – July 6th, 2025

Academic Half Days – Students attend these educational sessions during Year 3 Clerkship. Contact your Program Administrator for specific dates and times.

Statutory holidays observed by UBC – These are the dates that students may be off or, if they are scheduled to be on-call, require time off in lieu.

Developed by the Office of Faculty Development in collaboration with Rita Shah, Assistant Dean, VFMP

 If you need help/support accessing Entrada, email MedIT or call 1.877.266.0666

THE UNIVERSITY OF BRITISH COLUMBIA
Faculty of Medicine

Office of Faculty Development
& Educational Support